

Winter Fire

V1

Calling down an icicle laden line
I've scraped the frost away from my heart yet one more time
I'm ready for a steady loved one in my life
Did I really see the sign that maybe you'll be mine
And
Looking from my chilly window pane
Can my thoughts and feelings travel along that cold, cold wire
With all my heart's love melting its way to you
The heat of my desire, has sparked a winter fire

Chorus

And I see you in my dreams
Smoke and steam so it seems
Slips and curls in shapely whirls
Under deep in my sleep
I awake with a shake
How much more can someone take
My temperature's rising higher
Burning from a winter fire

V2

It's ringing beginning a nervous symphony
My heartstrings started to sing the very moment I met you
I'm not sure what I might say when you pick up the phone
I have thought so much of you for once I'll follow through
And
I reckon in seconds that I will hear your voice
This imaginary conversation just won't suffice
To be true I felt new when I first laid my eyes on you
Will your voice be made of ice will it be all warm and nice

Chorus

V3

I wish I could just fast forward from this call
Into a life with you that's full of love and some fun
But first dates to life mates doesn't happen over night
I will prove that I'm the one the best for you under the sun
And
The sparks fly from my mind caught up in the rising heat
Each one is another thought of you and I'm no liar
Ignition by fission could not be more intense
The heat of my desire has sparked a winter fire

Chorus
