

HEY SOLDIER

V1

At the fault line is the divide
Where North and south and wet and dry collide
And tectonic warfare is waged
Where guns and missiles will make the earth quake and then

We send our young, strongest and brave
Some to their glory and some to their grave and still Generations one after one
Has taught their children to use a gun I say

C1

Hey Soldier duck down your head
There's two kinds of fighters the living and dead
To do the jobs that we couldn't do
Your family, your friends and I'm behind you

V2

At the front line one sentry's eyes
Blink once they live but blink twice and they might all die
Every one is pushed to the edge
When young women and men are used as a wedge to do

Last rights of failed diplomacy
Armed with the latest great technology and yet
A fire cracker packed in a can
Is still enough to kill a grown man I say

C2

Hey Soldier launch that grenade
Then move with your troops through the wreckage it laid
It's not forgotten there's two sides that shoot
What's done is done is what they'd do to you

V3

Tired so tired stuck up to your knees
In the blood and the mud and the dust and the grease and heat
In some god forsaken land
Aiming at you is child woman or man and then

A shot rings out from between a crack
No time to think you begin the attack right back
When the smoke floats lightly away
A dead 12 year old with an assault rifle lay I say

Repeat Chorus 1 and Chorus 2
